SISTER ELOPED WITH THE GROOM.

Miss Caroline Cummings died at the asylum at Hopkinsville, Ky., Tuesday night. Her history is one of the saddest imaginable.

Miss Cummings, and she was known by no other name, was the daughter of a prominent and well-to-do family of Sindusky, Ohio. She was engaged to be married to a Mr. W. L. Lawrence, then a prominent business man of San-

Upon the night set for their wedding the guests assembled, the table was set and all arrangements made for the marr age. The hour for it to be performed rolled around, and no bridegroom came. An investigation revealed the fact that a sister of the to be bride was also missing. To make a long story short, the intended husband of Miss Caroline Cummings and a sister of Miss Cummings had eloped. The lover and sister left at once for Marysville, Cal., and lived there until the death of Mr. Lawrence. Mrs. Lawrence still resided bere when last heard from The family of John W. Durkee was about this time preparing to move from Onio to Bowling Green, and the disappointed bride came with them, on ondition that her life's history was never to be mentioned. This compact was faithfully kept by the Durkees and no one there knew the story until she was sent to the asylum. While there it seaid that she would frequently array perself in her best clothing and sit and watch and wait for the coming of the oridegroom that never came. The renains were brought to Bowling Green and interred in Fairview Cemetery.

CAN'T NURSE LEPERS.-Another Virginia girl has left Johns Hopkins Hospital because she had to take the chance of pursing the leper which the hospital managers insist upon keeping in the institution. This was the cause of the resignation of Miss Douthat a mite an attractive venng lady, and very intelligent. The family is one of the best known in the lower part of the valley of Virginia. Miss Shanks went to Baltimore from Lexington about two months ago, and entered Johns Hopkins to take the course of training prescribed for those desiring to become trained nurses. Everything was con-genial and the future looked bright, out soon she discovered that the leper, who was the cause of Miss Douthat leaving the hospital, was still alive in the building, and the requirement that all nurses should take turns in nursing the leper, if directed to do so, was still in force. At first she thought of accepting the conditions, but grave opposition was made at her home. Then, disease in some way had its influence

A YOUNG ARCHITECT KILLED .- A dispatch from Greenville, S. C., says: Warren E. M. Grube, a young architect, who came here from Rochester, N. Y., two years ago, was shot and insantly killed in his office yesterday by John G. Chafio, a contractor. Grube refused to order payment for a house Coufin had built under his supervision, contending that the work was im-properly done. He was shot without warning. Chafin is in jail. The young woman to whom Grube was to have been married early in December will accompany his body to his home. A meeting of citizens last night decided o send a delegation as a guard of honor. Grube was very popular and the kill-ing is bitterly denounced. His mother is Mrs J. L. Rankin, of Rochester, and his stepfather is a prominent lawyer of
